

taking it to the streets

a design festival of human proportions

Entry Application – May 14-15, 2016

Name of your humatat: _____

Team name: _____

Contact information (the usual, name, email, phone...): _____

Team affiliation (if any): _____

Team members (if you want to recognize any help): _____

Dream location (consult the site map and let us know, but it might play out differently, organizers want the competition to be lively): _____

I agree to play by the “taking it to the street’s rules and guidelines.

Signature: _____ Print name: _____

Please include:

1. A clearly dimensioned site plan of the “humatat.” 8.5”x 11” size works for us.
2. Information necessary to illustrate compliance with American Disability Act (ADA) requirements for accessibility or “like accommodation.” For this purpose portions of existing sidewalk may be utilized in the “humatat.” When including sidewalk areas, adequate path of travel width shall be illustrated.
 - a. Designs shall orient pedestrians and like toward the existing sidewalk and illustrate adequate separation from parking spaces and travel lanes in the public right of way.

Please remember that this is a friendly competition for all!

Rules and such:

Exclusive use of any “humatat” is prohibited. Each “humatat” shall be accessible to all persons regardless of age, ability, or disability.

Any verbal, physical or like “messages” included in the “humatat.” Such messages shall be non-biased nor offensive to any community group.

Rule Number One: build something that you want to share with the community...and have fun. You’re putting it out there, so be bold and contemporary...or whatever you want to be. Express and celebrate your place in Clovis and the greater environs. In doing so, also be sensitive and constructive to others in the community...it is their community too! And, your mission is to attract them to interact and dialog with your vision...like why would you be doing this thing anyway, right?

Rule Number Two: involve and respect the public...and have fun! Invite the public to your humatats both in design and daily interaction. Offer quality time with the public while helping to nurture an understanding of the role urban design shares with public “wellbeing.” We’re not there to show them we got it right, we’re there to celebrate human society and make friends we never thought we’d ever get to meet.

Rule Number Three...consult Rule Number One.

Please email your application to Dwight Kroll, Clovis Director of Planning at dwightk@cityofclovis.com. We will also accept snail mail at 1033 Fifth Street, Clovis, CA 93612.

You will want to send in your application as soon as possible because space is limited to 20 lucky teams. The absolute deadline to apply is May 6, 2016.
