- Clovis City Manager Rob Woolley congratulated Clovis Police Chief Matt Basgall and his Department for once again been named the “Safest City in the Valley” on March 14th. Chief Basgall said, “Thank you to all of you for continuing to provide superior service to our citizens and our community.”
- Clovis Police Officer Nicholas Campbell responded to a call on West 9th Street regarding a theft of an Xbox in March. The Xbox was the pride and joy of its autistic owner. Nick spoke with the victim, who told him a friend came by to ask for help from his brother. “The friend” then stole the Xbox when the brother left the room. The victim told the officer how he saved for a very long time to afford to buy the Xbox. Officer Campbell started a fund in the Department to raise money to buy a new Xbox. Donations allowed him to purchase and give the man a new Xbox just 2 days later. Many thanks to all at the PD who donated to help!

in a neighborhood park crying. Officer Phil Macy responded and found a lost 2-year-old. Two good Samaritans watched after the child. Officer Macy went to his patrol car and gave her a teddy bear. As he held her, she fell asleep. Her mother confirmed that the little girl was put down for a nap, but instead got up, unlocked the door and left. Officer Macy checked the home and

- Clovis Police Officer Ryan Wade was among the presenters at the “Senior Scam Stoppers Workshop” on March 24th at the Clovis Senior Center. He was joined by members of several other local agencies. Officer Wade talked about local crimes/scams and how seniors and other can protect themselves and their families against fraud.

- On a rainy March 5th Saturday from 10 a.m. until noon, Clovis Police Child Safety Seat technicians checked Child Safety Seats, Booster Seats and whether children were properly restrained. Each child was fitted with parents present. Thirty children were checked. Total misuse rate was 95%.
